The EBU Scientific forum provides a platform for presenting EBU education and research approaches, fostering networking and intensify collaboration between scientists from the EBU alliance and selected partners of the EBU network.

During the two-day event, researchers, young scientists and PhD students will have the opportunity to present and discuss research results and plan new joint projects.

Encouraging online formats will foster new project initiatives and create new collaboration opportunities through dedicated workshops and several parallel sessions on all relevant sectors and topics for accelerating the transition towards the bioeconomy in Europe.

The call for contributions for cross-sectoral bioeconomic research will open soon.
